

UTAH SELECTS DEBATERS TO MEET DENVER UNIVERSITY.

Karl Hopkins.

Dale H. Parke.

James E. Moss.

Karl Hopkins, James Moss and Dale A. Parke were the unanimous choice of the students of the university yesterday for the debating team which shall represent them in the annual interstate debate with the University of Denver.

Messrs. Hopkins and Parke were members of the university team which met the Colorado college last year. Mr. Parke was also a member of the team sent last March to Moscow, Ida., to meet the Idaho university. Mr. Moss is a new man in debating circles. The team is already prepared, having studied the question for over two months. The members had a great deal of practice in actual debate and team work by meeting the Utah team which recently defeated Boulder. As the question to be debated is the same as that discussed at the Utah-Boulder debate, the practice will be of great aid in the coming debates. This year's contest will be the second of the series of debates to be held with Denver. The first one was held in this city last May, and resulted in victory for Denver. The contest this year will be held in Denver. The date selected is April 6.

JINKS AT UNIVERSITY CLUB

The Fifteenth Annual Banquet Leads to Some Patriotism and Much Hilarity.

The fifteenth annual banquet of the University club, held at the club last night, was pronounced a success—a "howling success," one member chose to put it. There were high jinks, characteristic of college days, but they were part of the programme. Harvard men sang their favorite songs, so did Yale's, Pennsylvania's, Columbia's and Stanford's, but it was all on the programme. About sixty members sat around the banquet board.

When Jay T. Harris arose to give his "Apologue by the Postmaster," he was cut off short; in fact, too short. He then introduced Clarence E. Allen, who responded to a toast, "The University Club." Mr. Allen spoke of its social aspects and its members in active pursuits of life. Interruptions were frequent and time was called. Mr. Allen stopped in the midst of a dozen puns flung at him from all sides and announced that he would finish his toast, no matter how much time the members took. They then sang, "We Won't Go Home Till Morning."

In concluding, Mr. Allen proposed a toast to "His birthday, first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen." It was accepted in silence and reverence was done the father of his country.

The only speech that was not interrupted was given by D. Macpherson Boyd. He was called by Postmaster Harris to respond to "Bobbie Burns as a Member of the University Club." Mr. Boyd took an elevated position on a chair in the middle of the banquet room. For fully three minutes he made frantic gestures, that would call down upon him the wrath of the Roman orators, but not a word came from his lips. After he bowed and took his seat he was applauded by everybody. He was the greatest of the evening.

Rev. Frank Fay Eddy was asked to respond to a toast, "The Garden." "A clerical friend of mine told me that it was a very easy matter to respond to a toast at the University club's annual banquet," Dr. Eddy said. "I understood him to say that you were not expected to say anything; just stand up as a target to be shot at."

Dr. Eddy was shot at a number of times, but told of the various uses of the roof garden. He said it could be conveniently used should a husband go home in such a condition that he could not move wiser than were allowed even in the state of Utah.

"Why Marriage is a Failure," was responded to by George Harris Smith, in the absence of Ernest M. Fowler. George M. Lawrence was called upon to finish a toast which he commenced at the banquet a year ago. Mr. Lawrence will be given another chance next year to complete his speech. A. L. Hoppaugh and others made short impromptu speeches.

The following were present: Leigh Allen, D. Macpherson Boyd, C. N. Knight, L. P. Taylor, John A. Street, Matt Brodie, William T. Anderson, G. W. Morrison, L. H. Farnsworth, W. A. Wilson, George M. VISIT STATE SCHOOL.

Governor and Attorney General Go to Ogden to Make Inquiry.

Governor John C. Cutler and Attorney General M. A. Breeden went to Ogden yesterday to visit the state industrial school. The trustees of the school recently asked the state board of examiners, of which the governor and the attorney general are members, to allow them $5,000 in excess of the sum appropriated for the school by the last legislature, to purchase additional equipment and make sanitary improvements in the school, and the visit of the two officials was to determine whether the allowance should be made.

gation impressed him so greatly that whenever possible all his dealings were brought to a successful termination without court procedure.

So well had Henry Rives performed his duties in the litigation that he was selected as a district judge with jurisdiction over Lincoln, White Pine and Eureka counties. Later he came to Utah and accepted a retainer as counsel for Captain J. R. Delemar, the mining magnate of Utah, Nevada, Idaho and California.

For the past few years Judge Rives has not been actively engaged in his profession. His health has not permitted it.

THINKS WELL OF MEXICO

William M. Roylance Speaks in Glowing Terms of Prospects of Utah Company.

Provo, Feb. 21.—William M. Roylance, who has lately returned from a trip to Mexico to inspect the holdings of the Utah-Mexican Sugar & Livestock company, of which he is an officer, is very much encouraged with the prospects of profitable returns to the stockholders in the company. The company now has 500 acres of sugar cane planted, and will increase the acreage this year, and the company's mill is now at work turning out sugar. A large quantity of alcohol will also be manufactured by the company this year. Mr. Roylance says the City of Mexico and in fact all the leading cities of the country are filled with American capitalists seeking investments, and that the opportunities for profitable investment of American capital are good. A. O. Jones said to be engaged in the cattle business, found a large pearl in an oyster stew, ordered the last night at the Vienna cafe in this city. Mr. Jones is used to this sort of thing, having found a pearl for which he obtained $250 a few years ago when eating oysters. He has some right along eating oysters since then and intends doing so in the future. From the size and appearance of the last pearl he thinks the oysters are improving in the pearl manufacturing business. It is larger and finer than the former pearl found by him.

Marriage licenses have been issued to the following couples: John W. Boardman, aged 21, and Jodie Cluff, aged 19, both of Provo; Frank Speckart and Hattie Richmond, both of Provo.

Willie, the 12-year-old son of William Homer underwent a successful operation for hernia at the Provo general hospital today.

A. N. Holdaway and W. W. Billings went to American Fork yesterday and organized a farmers' union of the American Society of Equity.

Mrs. C. L. Grier will soon leave for Los Angeles to join her husband, who has gone into business there.

The Rosclans, who presented "El Capitán" Monday night and "The Bohemian Girl" Tuesday night, will be succeeded by the audience which attended the opera and received very favorable criticisms from local musicians.

An interesting parents' meeting was held in the M. A. school this evening. County Superintendant Eggerston and City Superintendent Hawkins delivered interesting addresses, followed by a fine literary and musical programme by the pupils.

The pupils of the Timpanogos school will observe Washington's Birthday tomorrow (Thursday) evening, with an appropriate programme. The proceeds will go to the school library and athletic association.

The Timpanogos school basketball team defeated a picked team from the preparatory and training departments of the B. Y. Tuesday on a score of 21 to 15.

A conjoint meeting to which the public is invited, will be held in the evening in the tabernacle. It is expected President Smith will be in attendance.

The Commercial club last evening received several communications from Commercial clubs, favoring the county fair movement and promising support. The Lehi Commercial club asked for the support of the club in inducing the Utah county commissioners to increase the appropriation for the state experiment station at Lehi from $3,000 to $10,000. The matter was referred to a committee.

HENRY RIVES PASSES AWAY

This information Judge Rives had no hand in this scheme.

The litigation was never settled, no decision being rendered for either company. The mines were allowed to fill with water and Ploche—the city of a night, passed away. Several attempts to reopen these mines have been unsuccessful, but the Nevada-Utah Mining company will probably effect this within a short time.

Kept Clients Out of Court.

One of the characteristics of Judge Rives for which he was widely known, was his ability to keep his clients out of court. The result of the Ploche liti-
